TAKES CHARGE IN WHITE HOUSE

Mrs. Wilson Enters Executive Mansion as the First Lady of the Land—Busy Arranging the Wedding Presents.

Washington, Jan. 5.—The new mistress of the White House took personal charge yesterday.

President Wilson smiled when he handed his bride from the automobile and walked with her into the executive mansion. There were broad grins on the faces of the doormen and profound bows as Mrs. Wilson passed through the entrance.

Throughout the mansion there began an increased activity. From one end of the big house to the other the word passed quickly that the new mistress had arrived, and hustle and bustle followed.

The first work that confronted Mrs. Wilson was that of arranging the scores of wedding presents sent to her and Mr. Wilson. While she was in Hot Springs gifts have been sent down from the Galt home to the mansion in wagonload lots and placed in one big room.

The president and Mrs. Wilson enjoyed their first breakfast together in the White House, after which the president left his bride and went over to the executive offices.

FIGHT FOR DRY NATION

Prohibition Resolution Received in Congress Yesterday

BROUGHT UP BY SENATOR WEBB

In Washington State Magazine Liquor Ads Are Barred

Washington, Jan. 5.—The annual fight in Congress for nationwide prohibition was renewed yesterday, when Representative Webb of North Carolina introduced his resolution for a prohibition constitutional amendment. The resolution will be referred to the judiciary committee, of which Mr. Webb is chairman.

LOSS TO GOVERNMENT $1,400,000.

Enforcement of State Prohibition Law Will Cost This Annually.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 5.—D. J. Williams, internal revenue collector for the district embracing Washington, Monday estimated the United States government would lose $1,400,000 annually through enforcement of the state prohibition law. This estimate, he said, did not include losses in other districts through decrease of manufacture of spirituous liquors which were formerly sold in Washington.

MAGAZINE LIQUOR "ADS" BARRED.

Hundreds of Periodicals Withdrawn from News Stands.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 5.—Hundreds of popular periodicals were withdrawn Monday from news-stand sale because of the state-wide prohibition law forbidding the advertising of liquors. In cases where magazines were not withdrawn the pages containing liquor advertising had been cut out. A magazine distributing agency announced that several publications would issue editions not containing liquor advertising for sale in Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

COLORADO ABSOLUTELY DRY.

Not a Single Sale of Liquor Legally Made.

Denver, Col., Jan. 5.—Colorado was drier Monday under the new prohibition law than it probably will be again. Not a single sale of liquor for any purpose could be legally made. The first 55 permits to sell liquor, approved by Governor Carlson, were sent late Monday to wholesale and retail druggists. Until these permits are obtained intoxicants cannot be sold legally.

NATIONAL LEPROSARIUM.

I. Urged by U. S. Public Health Serv. of the United States.

The annual report of the secretary of treasury as it relates to the public health service contains numerous recommendations bearing on the functions of the organization, and evidences the great interest of this department in the extension and expansion of the governmental agencies for the protection of the public health.

In the development of general public health work, according to the secretary, there is great need of additional medical officers. The number of requests for advice and assistance in health problems received from states and municipalities during the past year has far exceeded that in any similar period in the history of the service, but the limited number of officers available for the work has prevented in many instances compliance with these requests.

The field investigation, the secretary states, have served as a stimulus to state and local health agencies, and every effort should therefore be made to encourage and turn to practical account the interest in health matters awakened in the general public. For this reason an increase in the appropriation for field work is urged.

An additional building for the hygienic laboratory is urgently needed. The work of this institution has been greatly extended, particularly as it relates to the examination of viruses, serum and analogous products, a vast market for which has been recently created abroad. The safeguarding of these therapeutic agents requires great accuracy and precision and overcrowding is a serious handicap. In order that the public health may be better protected, an annual appropriation of $25 is recommended to be expended in carrying out the provisions of the law relating to the examination of these products.

The United States is the only government of importance which does not provide for the care and isolation of lepers. The establishment of a national leprosarium where the numerous lepers, most of whom are native-born Americans, may be properly segregated and treated, thereby eliminating a menace to the health of others, is urged.

The further recommendations of the secretary relate to the need of additional clerical assistance in order to meet the demands which are increasingly made on the public service bureau.

IN BOSTON MARKETS.

Past Week Brought Practically No Change in Prices.

Boston, Jan. 5.—The week opens in the local butter, cheese and egg markets without much change from the conditions of late last week. Fine fresh butter cleans up fairly closely, but this is not the result so much of an active demand as it is to the fact that receipts of that particular grade are light. The general demand is far from brisk and below the best goods, prices favor buyers, for stocks are large and holders a little anxious to reduce them. The cheese market still draws strength from a good export demand. Weather conditions are against a free movement of eggs to market, and although the demand is not really active, it is sufficient with the light receipts to give the market a steady tone.

Jobbing quotations:

Butter—Fancy northern creamery, tubs 34@34½, boxes 35@35½, prints 35@35½, fancy western creamery 33@33½, fancy storage creamery 32@32½, good to choice creamery 30½@31, fair to good 29@30.

LIVESTOCK PRICES FIRMER.

Best Beef Cattle and Hogs Higher at Brighton Market.

Brighton, Jan. 5.—Live stock of all kinds was firmer at Brighton market yesterday morning, best beef cattle and hogs being higher.

Heavy cattle sold at better prices, some fancy pairs bringing 8¼ to 8½ cents. The range for the top grade was 8 to 8½ cents, with good cattle at 6½ to 7½ cents and light cattle at 5½ to 6 cents.

For an occasional fancy beef cow or heifer 7 cents was realized, the range for tops being 6½ to 7 cents, with good cows at 5½ to 6 cents, ordinary cows at 4 to 5 cents and canners at 3½ to 3¾ cents.

Fancy bulls sold as high as 6 to 6½ cents, though most brought a slightly lower figure than this. Bologna bulls sold at 4 to 4½ cents and ordinary bulls at 3 to 3½ cents.

Not much change was noted in calves, though an occasional fancy lot went at over 10 cents. Good lots brought 8 to 10 cents, fair lots 7 to 8 cents and grassers and drinkers 5 to 7 cents.

Hogs were firmer and higher in spite of a continued heavy run in the West. Best lots sold at 6½ to 7.20 cents, with rough lots at 6 to 6½ cents, and boars at 3½ cents.

Choice lambs are scarce, and with light receipts, quotations are nominally 8 to 9 cents, though really choice would bring 10 cents, if they were to be had. Sheep were also quoted higher at 4 to 6 cents.

Better prices were indicated for milk cows, some shippers quoting $50 as the minimum for ordinary, though others were more moderate. Perhaps $40 to $60 might be considered a fair range for ordinary cows, with good cows at $75 to $85 and fancy milkers at $100 and upward.

KILLED BY REVOLVER.

Boy Drops Dead as He Cranks Auto in Garage.

Boston, Jan. 5.—Joseph Spring, 18, a first year student at Worcester academy, and the son of Charles M. Spring of Columbia street, Wellesley, Lower Falls, was accidentally shot to death yesterday when an automatic pistol dropped from his pocket and discharged in the garage of A. Luff on Washington street, Wellesley. The safety catch on the pistol was not set. The young man died within a few minutes.

Spring was cranking an auto, and feeling the sudden pain, thought he had strained himself. He exclaimed to his companions: "My stomach feels all gone. I must have hurt it." Then the discovery of what had actually happened was made. The bullet struck in back of the right thigh, passed up through the abdomen and continued on into his chest. Before Dr. F. A. Stanwood, who was summoned, could get to the garage, young Spring was dead.

There was considerable doubt at first as to how the young man had been shot, but after an investigation, the medical examiner announced that there was no doubt that death was accidental and caused in the manner stated. Two young men friends were at the garage with Spring when the fatality occurred. They, and Spring, at first mistook the sound of the report for a back-fire in the engine.

The McCall-Week Issue.

Gov.-elect McCall declines to take a place in the procession of Massachusetts regulars behind the candidacy of Senator Weeks for the presidency. To this apparent conclusion the newspapers of the last week have given very large attention, and yet perhaps not more than it deserves, since the resulting silence contains large possibilities of explosion.

Mr. McCall has a perfect right to aspire to the presidential nomination, or to keep himself where, if the lightning should begin to play over his head, he would not be under obligation to get out of the way. He is widely and favorably known throughout the country. His achievement in welding the Republican and Progressive in Massachusetts has naturally attracted attention in anti-Democratic circles everywhere. He is, in fine, a national figure.

But Massachusetts cannot present two candidates for the presidency. The rest of the country would laugh at us, as it did at the two Rhode Islanders who maintained rival vice presidential headquarters at the Republican convention of 1896. The current view was that if the Rhode Islanders themselves could not agree between the two the rest of the country should consider neither. It would be the same with two presidential aspirants from Massachusetts. Even the news that there are two possibilities, and a division of sentiment as to the more available, already going out over the wires, tends to make this commonwealth's expression only an empty ceremony, besides dissipating pretty completely the notion that there can be a solidary of the six New England states behind a single New England candidate. Six states are not likely to be solid if the chief corner-stone of the enterprise lacks that quality.

But a still more ominous phase remains. There is Roosevelt. His name can be on the Massachusetts ballot with very slight effort and cost. Would the Weeks candidacy suffice to save the state from him, particularly if the anti-Roosevelt people divided themselves between Weeks and McCall, either openly or covertly? Taft and Roosevelt made a practically even break in this state four years ago, and the men who voted for Roosevelt in the spring primaries than are nearly back in the old ranks now. And we have no party enrollment to give steadiness to the situation.

Senator Weeks has been an earnest advocate of preparedness as a graduate of the naval academy and doubtless originally intended to project his presidential candidacy on that issue. But Capt. Gardner got away with it first, besides presenting it more dramatically, and now Col. Roosevelt has distanced the Essex congressman in aggressiveness. As a result there is nothing left in that issue for Capt. Weeks. Loyalty to it does not even prevent Capt. Gardner from expressing his preference for McCall for president. This attitude will undoubtedly be shared by Grafton Cushing, who tried to take the gubernatorial nomination away from McCall, and most of the Cushman-Gardner following, not that they are more enthusiastic over McCall than they were before, but that in obstructing the Weeks candidacy they see a chance to "get even" while certain factors and influences supposedly behind Senator Weeks in his political aspirations, and also, as they believe, bitterly opposed to Grafton Cushing and his group of "challengers" in state affairs.

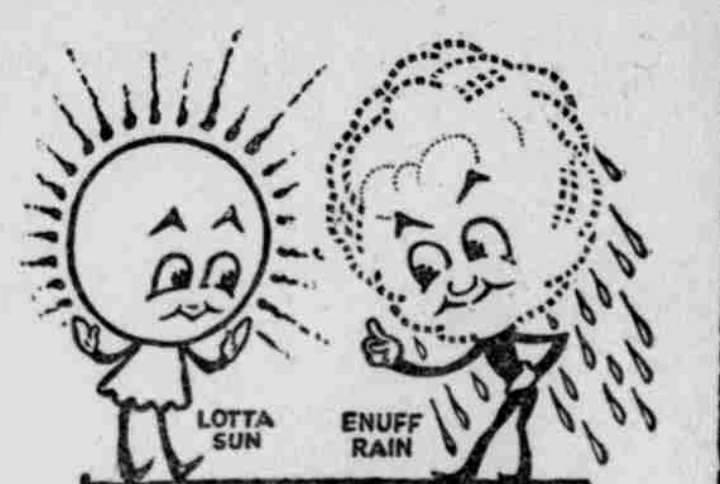

Republican seas are thus ruffling early in the period of new ascendancy in the state and of material promise of ascendancy in the nation. With April 25th drawing near, somebody ought to "get hold of the situation." The Democrats will have no contest of their own. The entire electorate, under our new-fangled reform can take part in expressing a preference for the Republican nomination. If any large contest ever it goes into the ballot boxes, we can never tell what would happen.—Boston Herald.

From Nothing to $6,000,000 in Three Months

Three months ago to-day nobody had ever seen a Triangle Film Play.

To-day moving picture theatres all over the country are paying at the rate of nearly six million dollars a year to show them.

Two million people will see Triangle Plays this week.

One day last spring half a dozen of us,—all practical experienced moving picture people,—decided the public was ready for better moving pictures than had ever been made,—ready enough to pay practically any price to get them.

Backed by a large capital and long experience, we were able to get into the project the three highest-paid, best-known producers in the world.

Griffith—who produced the "Birth of a Nation." Ince—who made the wild West famous in pictures. Sennett—maker of Keystone Comedies.

And with them the greatest aggregation of charming, beautiful women and brilliant men who ever acted together.

Just run your eye over this partial list.

Douglas Fairbanks	Robert Herron	Weber & Fields
Mae Marsh	William S. Hart	Raymond Hitchcock
Lillian & Dorothy Gish	Bessie Barriscale	Mabel Normand
Tully Marshall	Frank Keenan	Roscoe Arbuckle
Thomas Jefferson	Enid Markey	Fred Mace
Frank Campeau	Katherine Kaelred	Ford Sterling
Helen Ware	Orrin Johnson	Truly Shattuck

The rush of success was not surprising; it was inevitable.

And it was not surprising, either, that,—working at top pressure every minute—we have only just got to the point where we can offer Triangle Plays to a motion picture theatre in this city.

Maybe the theatre you regularly go to is trying for the contract—unless he thinks he can hold your patronage with something that costs him less than Triangle Plays.

Speak to him next time you go by.

Ask him when Triangle Pictures are booked to come to him. For if his is the best house in town they'll be there.
